Expectation of good news from Europe before Monday together with knowledge that the banking situation was much stronger gave the stock market much support today. Mexican Petroleum was much stronger and continued in leader-ship with an advance of thirteen chile. R. I. & Pacific...

Sensational News Expected. In the absence of specific news Wall Street was busy trying to apply known facts to the expectations of next week. As applied to the oil stocks, this combination was very satisfactory. # Injuries Received by His Mother.

A Southern boy, Lieut. William W Hargrave, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hargrave, sr., of 1445 Massachusett dake avenue northwest, who went overseas with a Washington unit, has been wounded in action, according to last night's casualty list issued by the War Department. Twelve members of the Hargrave family are in the service. "My son," said Mrs. Hargrave last night, as she told of his service, "has seen continuous trench service since he arrived in France May 30. His unit went north into Flanders with an Eng-lish brigade. This section, stationed near St. Quentin, has been under constant attack. At times they are in the trenches, boots soaked with water, and wearing gas masks for fifty hours, snatching rest between attacks."

Lieut, Hargrave, with three office companions, volunteered to go to a listening-in station very ear the German lines. This station was located in a V-shaped pocket. The Germans discovered them, shut their means of escape and ope and when the attack lessened they managed to crawl back to their own lines. A hand grenade hed wounded Lieut. Hargrave in the face. From the trench line he was sent for a convalescent period to an officers' training school. His last letter stated that he was again well enough for trench line asignment.

youngsters were discovered because, like all other small boys, they develop an appetite once in a while that must be satisfied regardless of the consequences. They stopped at a house in Gaithersburg, Md., yesterday afternoon and asked for a meal.

As with grown folks, the way to their hearts was through their stomachs, and while the boys were enjoying a hearty meal they talked about themselves, and the man who owned the house telephoned to Detective Sergt, Burlingame and asked about them. An automobile was sent after the boys, neither of whom lost any time getting in it to ride home again.
